

3-5-2015

Subject: Maine Traditions Compliance to CARB 2 Certification

To Our Valued Customers,

I want to thank you all for your continued support of Maine Traditions Flooring. Due to recent events in the news regarding flooring products being sold in California that are said to not meet Phase 2 CARB requirements, many of you have asked for our assurance that our engineered products do meet the Phase 2 CARB 93120 certification.

All Maine Traditions brand engineered products meet the Phase 2 of CARB requirements. Our solid products are not required under this regulation, as it applies only to substrates used in the manufacture of engineered products.

Also, our engineered products are available with FSC (Forest Stewardship Council) certification. Assuring that all our raw wood material comes from well managed forests and no illegal wood is used in the manufacturing of our engineered products.

The Maine Traditions brand of flooring has been built on the vision of providing our customers with the finest quality products that are safe for their health as well as that of the environment we all share.

Please contact your Maine Traditions Representative with any questions and they will be more than happy to assist you.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Marc Kendrew".

Marc Kendrew